

Quantum Leap Innovations has delivered over $30 million of advanced analytics technology to the United States Government.

Gartner has identified Pattern Based Strategy as an important emerging “framework for proactively seeking and acting on the early, ‘weak’ signals that form patterns in the marketplace.” Gartner has named us a “Cool Vendor 2011.”

We are therefore using the October 2011 Gartner IT<sup>XPO</sup> in Orlando, Florida to announce our search for early adopter customers, a handful of whom will become strategic partners. Since we are a small, self-funded company, we have bandwidth enough for just a few such partners.

Pattern Based Analytics Innovator Seeks Strategic Partners

Imagine turning your data into intelligent chunks of information that jump right out and speak to you, all without mathematicians and statisticians. Our small company has delivered big capabilities to the U.S. DoD. We are now ready to unveil our proprietary pattern based analytics breakthroughs and are looking for strategic partners who desire a first-mover advantage.

My name is Joseph Budner Elad, and I am the founder and CEO of Quantum Leap Innovations. If you are attending the Gartner IT<sup>XPO</sup> symposium in Orlando, Florida this week, and if you have been searching for analytics technology that could give you a competitive edge, I would be honored if you would grant me 15 minutes in Orlando.

IBM, Microsoft, Oracle, Qliktech, SAP and Tibco analytics have just been...“quantum leapt.” Discover what your data has been shouting. Choose among the alternative futures that are forecast by patterns heretofore hidden in real-world complexity and uncovered automatically by our proprietary Quantum Leap® Pattern Based Analytics.™
